

The Little Fisher-Maiden

Ludolf Waldmann, 1840-1919

arr. Laurel Hunt Pedersen

There was a lit - tle Fish - er maid - cried all dan - ger I am scorn - en, So love - ly and so bright, A joy un - to the sight! A ing, And laugh - ing on sailed she, Though wild - er grew the sea, Though joy un - to the sight. The fair - est maid in all the vil wild - er grew the sea. Some Tri - tons who had heard that warn - lage, She braved the storm - y sea, With heart so light and free, With ing, When these the maid - en spied, For help, for help she cried, For heart so light and free! The Mer - maids came with voic - es clear. To warn the maid of help, for help she cried! Her frag - ile boat they toss it o'er. She sails the sea a - dan - gers near! To warn the maid of dan - gers dan - gers near. The lone no more! She threw it on the cru - el rock - y shore!

26

31

Mer - maids song, The Mer - maids song rang long; Lit - tle Fish - er maid - en, Skies with storms are la - den! Tempt no more a - lone the sea!

36

41

Dan - gers wait - ing there for thee! Lit - tle Fish - er maid - en Skies with storms are la - den! Tempt no more a - lone the sea! Dan - ger waits for thee! She 51 ^{2.} thee! The Fish - er maid - en swift was dy -

46

56 ing, She sank be-neath the wave! But Nep - tune came to save. But

61 Nep - tune came to save: A - mid the tem - pest round them fly -

66 ing, With strong and will - ing hand, He drew her safe to land: With 71 strong and will - ing hand! But since that hour her joy is o'er. She sails the sea a - lone no more! She sails the sea a - lone, a - lone no more. The 81

76

Mer-maids song, The Mer-maids song rang long; Lit - tle Fish - er

86

maid - en, Skies with storms are la - den! Tempt no more a - lone the sea!

91

Dan - gers wait - ing there for thee! Lit - tle Fish - er maid - en, Skies with storms are la - den! Tempt no more a - lone the sea! Dan - ger waits for thee!

96